Financial Disclosure as of 31 December 2017

VI. Off-balance sheet exposures

(a) The contractual amounts of each of the following class of off-balance sheet exposures outstanding were as follows:

	31 Dec 2017 HK$ in millions	30 Jun 2017 HK$ in millions
Contingent liabilities and commitments
- Direct credit substitutes	399	390
- Other commitments	346	353
- Exchange rate and gold contracts	49	16
	794	759

Contingent liabilities and commitments arise from credit-related instruments which include letters of credit, guarantees and commitments to extend credit. The risk involved in these credit-related instruments is essentially the same as the credit risk involved in extending loan facilities to customers. The contractual amounts represent the amounts at risk should the contract be fully drawn upon and the client default. As the facilities may expire without being drawn upon, the contract amounts do not represent expected future cash flows.

(b) Derivative transactions

There are no outstanding derivative transactions as of 31 December 2017 and 30 June 2017.

VII. Liquidity

	For the period ended 31 Dec 2017 Percentage
The average liquidity maintenance ratio for the financial period	143.53%

	For the period ended 31 Dec 2016 Percentage
The average liquidity maintenance ratio for the financial period	287.11%

The average liquidity maintenance ratio is the simple average of each calendar month's average liquidity maintenance ratio as reported in the "Return of Liquidity Position of an Authorized Institution".

Hong Kong Branch seeks to manage its liquidity position (including intraday position) so as to meet payment and financial obligations on a timely basis under both normal and stressed conditions.

The management of liquidity is in compliance with the Liquidity Risk Management Guidelines of Hong Kong Branch. Hong Kong Branch manages liquidity on a daily basis and includes intraday position, so that payment and financial obligations for both on and off balance sheet are met on a timely basis.

The Liquidity Risk Management Guidelines set out the liquidity management framework that is consistent with Head Office policy and practices, with adjustments to local regulatory requirements and operating environment that Hong Kong Branch needs to comply with. Liquidity risk management indicators and limits are established to identify, measure, monitor and control the liquidity risk. Hong Kong Branch also performs cashflow projections and stress testing regularly to identify liquidity risk exposures and impacts.

Head Office's Balance Sheet Management and Group Treasury functions monitor and support Hong Kong Branch's liquidity management.
